Success Story

In 2017, James was released from an 18-month stay at a psychiatric hospital after battling severe alcoholism and bipolar disorder. With no job or family contact, his prospects were grim until he heard about Easterseals NJ's mental health residences.

While there, James worked with the staff there to increase his independence. Now, after eight years of hard work and support, he is on the next step of his journey.

James is moving out.
